Ancylus MAC ship

Ancylus was a Rapana Class (tanker) MAC-ship built by Swan Hunter. Laid down and launched 9 October 1934, completed January 1935. Subsequently conversion completed October 1943. This conversion was conceived and designed by the shipping company which owned the ships; the plan was initially rejected by the Navy but later accepted. Generally similar to previous MAC conversions.

Battle Honours Atlantic 1943-1944. Squadrons and aircraft in 1939-1945.
